

BallBuster Magazine

<http://www.ballbusterhardmusic.com>

Lost Angel "Psychosomatic" 2000 self By Wayne Klinger

I usually don't assume but this band from Ohio look a bit in their 30's..no disrespect since I'm soon 31 myself but the fact I get idiot teeny bopper kids that mention of our age and how our music sucks or we can't rock..blah blah blah! Well stick this band up your ass awhile! I was totally blown away by their heavy and raw sound which filters in like a hybrid Collective Soul meets Gruntruck, The Cult and an old favorite of mine, Sudden Death which these guys could pass for in looks..that rugged, "don't fuck with me" look. This was a follow-up to a CD of theirs called "Destination" but I never gave that a listen and they say the music direction on this one is way different; so easily said, I believe them and truly respect what they are doing cuz it all boils down to what you believe in and how your mind reacts to different music styles as you get older. So if I am a so-called "old goat", why do I listen to bands 10 times heavier than Godsmack? Lost Angel is the epitome of true devotion and the answer to them non-believers that judge us by age. I raise my beer to these guys! Keep it up and always keep the metal flame burning. www.lostangel.com or email at fanmail@lostangel.com

More Lead For Your Head © 2001, BBHrdRpt